Response to Amendment

This action is responsive to Applicant's response filed on February 28, 2005.

Claims 2, 3, 6, 9, 10, 13, 16, 17 and 20 are cancelled and claims 1, 4, 5, 7, 8, 11, 12, 14, 15, 18, 19 and 21-24 remain pending.

To expedite the process of examination Examiner requests that all future correspondences in regard to overcoming prior art rejections or other issues (e.g. amendments, 35 U.S.C. 112, objections and the like) set forth by the Examiner that Applicants provide and link to the most specific page and line numbers of the disclosure where the best support is found (see 35 U.S.C. 132).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1, 4, 5, 7, 8, 11, 12, 14, 15, 18, 19 and 21-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claims 1, 8, 15 and 22. The step of "extracting information about the note from the read image of the document printed on the paper and the note handwritten on the paper" is indefinite. Only one note appears to be supported by the disclosure.

To expedite the examination, Examiner interprets the image as an electronic document not including the note and note as the handwritten note.

Regarding claims 4, 5, 7, 11, 12, 14, 18, 19 and 21 depend from claims 1, 8 and 15 respectively, and therefore contain the deficiencies of those claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

Art Unit: 2161

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 4, 5, 7, 8, 11, 12, 14, 15, 18, 19 and 21-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ching (U.S. Patent No. 6,533,168) in view of Takeda et al (U.S. Patent No. 4,748,678).

Regarding claims 1, 8, 15 and 22-24 Ching discloses a method, program and system for electronically managing a note taken in a paper document printed from an "electronic document not including the note" (hereafter, original document) when the document is printed and used by a person, comprising: (figures 1a and 3, item 304, and col. 4, lines 9-14, Ching) reading as an image a document printed on a paper in which a note is taken; (col. 4, lines 9-14, 17 and 18, Ching) extracting information about the note from the read image of the document printed on the paper and a note handwritten on the paper; (col. 4, lines 9-14, Ching) recognizing a character written in the image data of the note (col. 10, lines 32-41, Ching), and, correlating and electronically storing the information about the note with the read image (col. 4, lines 14-17, and col. 10, lines 32-43, Ching) but does not explicitly teach correlating the original document with the information about the note and that the image data of the note is obtained by taking a difference between the original document and the read image.

Art Unit: 2161

However, Takeda teaches storing and retrieving image system that correlates an original document with information about a note (figures 7, 8, 11 and col. 9, lines 3-20, Takeda) and obtaining an image of the note by taking the difference between the original document and the read image (figures 7 and 8, Takeda).

Hence, having Ching system correlating information about the note with the read image (col. 10, lines 40-42, Ching), it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to correlate the information about the note with the original document as done in Takeda. One would have been motivated to store the correlation information about the note and the original document to keep track of the note and the related original document to avoid storing the read image which includes the original document with a note.

Further, having Ching system, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to obtain an image of the note by taking a difference between the original document (receipt) and the read image (receipt with note) as done in Takeda (figures 7 and 8, Takeda). One would have been motivated to take the difference between the receipt and the receipt with a note to exclusively store the image of the note for future processing.

(Note: obtaining an image of the note by taking the difference between the original document and the read image is shown in fig. 7 and supported by location attributes in fig. 8 of Takeda)

Art Unit: 2161

Regarding claims 4, 11 and 18, Ching/Takeda disclose the original document, a note image and a recognition result of the note image are correlated and electronically stored (figures 7, 8, 11 and col. 9, lines 3-20, Takeda).

Regarding claims 5, 12 and 19, Ching/Takeda disclose searching and recognizing with a search keyword and displaying the data (fig. 7, items 704 and 705 and fig. 2a, item 208, Ching).

Regarding claims 7, 14 and 21, Ching/Takeda disclose location information of the note within the printed document (fig. 8, Takeda).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed on February 28, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The arguments and responses are listed above.

Applicant argues on page 6 of the 2/28/05 response that the 35 U.S.C. section 112 par. 2 indefiniteness rejections have been overcome in the presently amended claims.

Examiner disagrees. Some issues have not been addressed and as such the rejections are outstanding. See rejections above.

Applicant argues on page 6 and 7 of the 2/28/05 response that Takeda and Ching do not teach the feature of character recognition.

Art Unit: 2161

Examiner disagrees. Ching system clearly discloses character recognition algorithms, please refer to col. 10, lines 32-55, specifically lines 38-42, Ching.

No other arguments have been raised.

With respect to all the pending claims 1, 4, 5, 7, 8, 11, 12, 14, 15, 18, 19 and 21-24, Examiner respectfully traverses Applicant's assertion based on the discussion cited above, as such, Examiner maintains the same rejections.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
